

Checklist

home contents

Replacing the contents of your home would be an expensive process and it is important to correctly estimate the cost of replacing all your contents with new items. The only items where you need to make a deduction for wear and tear are clothing and household linen.

This checklist provides examples of the types of items that may be found in a typical three bedroom house. We hope this helps you assess the replacement value of your home contents and the cost of replacing items with new. You will find current prices of many household items in a high street catalogue.

Simply walk around your house and using this checklist as a guide, you can calculate the total sum insured you require.
